

Recipe Contributor Agreement

Designed for influencers hiring an independent contractor.

Thank you for purchasing this Recipe Contributor Agreement from Businessese. We designed this form for influencers who are hiring an independent contractor to serve as a recipe contributor to their website or blog.

On the next page, there are instructions to help you customize the form. At any time, if you need assistance customizing the form, please contact your attorney. Businessese is not a law firm and we are unable to provide you with legal advice.

The final page contains the Terms of Use for this template. Please review it carefully. If at any time you have questions regarding the terms, please contact us at questions@businessese.com.

A big thank you for choosing Businessese for your legal forms and business templates.

Wishing you great success in your business,

Jamie & Danielle

Instructions

1. In the Introductory paragraph, replace the highlighted fields with the applicable information.
2. In paragraph 1, insert a termination date for the contract, or leave the first option in the clause, which provides that the contract will end when written notice is provided.
3. In paragraph 3, replace the highlighted fields with the applicable information regarding payment amounts and method of payment.
4. In paragraph 11, insert the state whose law will control in the highlighted fields.
5. In paragraph 13, remove if a non-compete provision is not needed.
6. In paragraph 14, insert the applicable contact information.
7. In the signature block, replace the highlighted fields with the signing party's information. The company name should be listed, if applicable. Otherwise, use the name of the individual.
8. In Exhibit A, outline the specific deliverables for the contract.

Terms of Use

This form is for informational purposes only. By purchasing this form, you have received a blank agreement in a Word document format. You, the purchaser, may reuse this form as many times as you may need. Businessese grants you a non-exclusive, non-transferable right to use the document you purchased. You shall not license, sublicense, sell, resell, transfer, assign, distribute, or otherwise make available this document to any third party, other than the signatory of the agreement or an attorney if you are seeking legal advice.

Translation

We don't want the legalese in that paragraph to be confusing, so here is a simple translation of the terms listed above:

You purchased the template from Businessese. We are giving you a Word Doc format that may be edited. You can personally use this document as many times as you need; however, you may not share it with any third parties, except for your attorney or the other party who will be signing the contract. Example #1: You are working with a company and you need to have them sign the agreement. In that situation, you may share the document. Example #2: Your friend asks you if you have a contract that she can use in a transaction you are not involved in. You are not permitted to share, but you can tell your friend how awesome our templates are and that she should purchase one for herself.
